

How to tie a slip-knot:

Holding the right-hand end of the thread in your right hand, wrap it around your left forefinger as shown above.

Slip the loop off your finger and pass the short end behind it to produce a "pretzel." Pick up the thread marked "X" with your finger and pull it through in a loop to form a slip knot. If you have a horse that plays with ropes—keep doing the loops until the left over rope is no more except for a small piece.

This knot only works if you tie it in the right-hand end (which will lock). - See illustration below.
